NUMBER 28

THEY ARE IN SESSION

The Members of Southwestern Nebraska Educational Association.

COLD SNAP CURTAILS ATTENDANCE

Lecture by Prof. Bowls, Last Night and by Chancellor MacLean, Tonight in the Congregational Church.

The Southwestern Nebraska Educational association opened its sessions in the A. O. U. W. temple hall, last evening, with a lecture on "The Greeny" by Prof. Bowls of Orleans. There was a fair audience considering the coldness of the weather, and the lecture was instructive, interesting and humorous. Music by the high school choir, the Valentine quartette and Miss Hannah Stangeland rounded out the evening's programme. Tonight Chancellor MacLean will lecture in the Congregational church, State Supt. Corbett will not be here tomorrow evening to lecture, but other arrangements will be made for that occasion. The attendance has been curtailed by the severe weather, but is nevertheless large enough to make an interesting and profitable session. The association is meeting in the high school building, and the public is cordially invited to all the sessions.

The Editor's Bank.

An exchange remarks: "Men have various ways of carrying money. Butchers, grocers and bakers carry it in a big crumpled wad. Bankers carry it in nice clean bills, laid full length in a morocco pocketbook. Brokers always fold their bills twice. The young business man carries his money in his vest pocket, while the sporting man carries it in his trousers pocket. Farmers and drovers carry their money in their inside vest pocket. Editors carry theirs in other people's pockets."

A Cane Presentation.

Hon. W. J. Bryan passed through this station on Burlington No. 3, Monday night, on his way to Denver, and the fact was utilized to present him with the handsome cane voted him during the late fair and festival by the members of St. Patrick's church. Rev. J. W. Hickey of the parish delivered a very neat and clever speech in making the presentation, to which Mr. Bryan responded in his usual, happy way. Notwithstanding the late hour, after midnight, some 150 or 200 people assembled at the depot to see and hear Mr. Bryan, who still appears to be the idol of many. Mr. Bryan's passage through the city was not generally known.

The Good Die Young.

The Beaver City Tribune is our authority for the statement that the Danbury News has turned up its pretty pink toes to the daisies and that the famous Smith brothers will establish a paper elsewhere. Thus another bright, particular star in the newspaper system is temporarily eclipsed. Ah!

A Little Unusual.

The cold wave came in on schedule time, Wednesday night. The thunder, lightning and heavy shower of rain that preceded the slight fall of snow was quite unusual for this time of year.

Berge's Feet.

After two years of steady work in the treasurer's office as deputy, J. H. Berge can now cock his feet on the steeple of the new court house in McCook and let a deputy do the work.—Reporter.

A QUARTER CENTURY

November, 1871, is the Date of Red Willow County's Settlement.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING DINNER

Was Eaten in Camp Near the Mouth of Red Willow Creek--And it Was in Some Respects Most Unique.

I wonder if any one has thought of this month being the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first settling of the county? The first Thanksgiving dinner was eaten in camp near the mouth of Red Willow creek, and in some respects was the most unique Thanksgiving dinner ever eaten. The eleven men who represented "The Republican Valley Land and Townsite company", had reached their destination the latter part of November, 1871, and after locating the Red Willow townsite and their respective claims, announced their readiness to return. Two of the company, kept in camp by allotted duties, had no opportunity of attending to individual interests, and looked upon the proceedings as being extremely selfish and unjust, and so pronounced it in vigorous language. The usual way of eating was in regular camp style, each as he pleased, but in deference to the day, this dinner must be somewhat ceremonious. The tin plates were arranged as on a table and all sat around, except the two, who were not yet in a thankful frame of mind, and while a blessing was asked, one of them, in an aside, muttered quite sulphurous words. After while, matters were so adjusted that the two shared in advantages taken by the others, and the lurid atmosphere cleared. Buffalo meat, wild turkey and prairie chicken were eaten with the regulation camp fare, among which was the inevitable flapjacks and syrup. It was too cold for the syrup to run, so it was cut off in chunks and lengths as it pressed through the bung hole of the keg. On occasion, one would become impatient for his sweet morsel, and reach over another to secure the piece for which the first was waiting, when exhibition of temper and ready use of strong words followed. In the social gatherings of old settlers many such incidents are recalled, laughed over and commented and moralized upon. And so, twenty-five years have passed and changes are so great and many, that the young people do not understand the terms so much used in the early days, and when we become reminiscent, ask what a "Homestead" is—and the meaning of a "Pre-emption"—and of "Proving up". An observer of times and events will see, human nature ever the same—that, as in the great wide world, so it is within the radius of our country. Lawlessness, peculiar to frontier days, has been but little known. In one locality, some later comers, considering it non-western not to have something wild and woolly, organized a secret "vigilance committee", which would have charge of public morals and possible horse thieves, but it died, at birth, from an overweight of bombast. Two mysterious murders are on record. Two county seat fights have brought the county into prominence. Churches and school houses were features of early improvements, and from the first the better elements predominated. Some have reaped where others sowed, and the most prosperous branch of business has been that of the land agents, but I shall not infringe upon their rights, by setting forth the wonderful and unparalleled advantages of this section of the "mundane sphere". Social conditions have kept pace with public affairs. Blushes have brightened—tears have been shed—some have gone to the altar—some to the tomb. Old things have passed away—the new has come, and while men come and men go, who have watched the making of a quarter century of history, seem to be reading a serial, continued from year to year. We have reached the end of the twenty-fifth installment—and wait—and wonder—what next?

They Gave Liberally.

The parishioners and friends of Rev. J. A. Badcon of the Methodist church tendered him a donation party in the church, Tuesday evening, which was one of the pleasant affairs of the week. The giving was liberal and varied, the receiving grateful. In the evening there was an enjoyable and meritorious literary musical programme for which the Methodist brethren have an enviable local reputation.

Death of an Esteemed Citizen.

M. Kessler, after an illness of a number of weeks with dropsy, passed quietly to his reward about ten o'clock on Thursday night. The deceased was an old and highly esteemed citizen of this county. He moved to McCook from near Indianola, last summer. He leaves an aged wife and five children, among the number being Mrs. Charles Lehn of our city. Services will be held in St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock tomorrow morning, after which the remains will be taken to Indianola for burial. The children from abroad will arrive here tonight. The family has much sympathy in this bereavement. Peace to his ashes.

Death of Lenno Hoge.

From the funeral announcement we learn of the death of Miss Lenno Hoge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hoge, in Denver, November 11th, 1896. Lenno was 19 years old, and will be remembered as a resident of McCook before the great Burlington strike, her father being at that time one of the company's best locomotive engineers. The deceased's young friends here will be pained to learn of her untimely death. The funeral took place on the 14th from the residence of the family at 1362 South 15th street.

The New Bath House.

The company's new bath house at this place is about completed, and it is finely appointed and convenient. There are six elegant porcelain-lined bath tubs and every arrangement for cleanliness and comfort. The water for bathing purposes is heated by dry steam piped from the round house. Railroad men are in fine fettle over the house with its improvements and enlarged facilities, furnished by the company.

Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 5th day of December, 1896, at the court house in Indianola, Nebraska, at 2 p. m., the annual meeting of the Red Willow County Agricultural society will be held for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and transacting any other business that may come before the meeting. J. H. BERGE, Secretary.

THE TRIBUNE is carried back to the early days of McCook's prosperity and glory, when we read of the multiplied and superb social functions of Alliance life as related by the Grip. It makes us hungry.

THE USUAL SUCCESS

The Seventh Annual Fair and Festival Held in the Opera House

BY MEMBERS OF ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday Evenings of Last Week—Large Attendance Each Night. Liberal Patronage.

The seventh annual fair and festival by the members of St. Patrick's church held in the Menard opera house on the evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, was up to their usual standard of success and afforded ample opportunities for all on pleasure bent or seeking investments in the many useful, ornamental and eatable articles offered for sale in the different booths scattered over the hall.

The arrangement, decoration and general appearance of the hall were very tasteful and attractive.

Of the articles on sale there were many and pretty for useful and embellishing purposes. They met a ready and profitable sale.

Those in charge of the refreshments spread an excellent meal most attractively and fully merited the large measure of patronage given that department.

The Business Men's table gave everybody a prize, and afforded much innocent amusement for all, besides being helpful in swelling the net proceeds in an encouraging sum.

The dancing each evening had its numerous and enraptured devotees, whose pleasure was raised to enthusiasm by the inspiring music furnished by the Pythian orchestra.

The ladies in attendance at the several booths were all gowned in picturesque Japanese costumes, which added to the gayety of the scene.

The contest over the cane resulted in victory for W. J. Bryan, to whom the same was presented, Monday night, on his way through the city to Denver by a committee.

All in all the fair and festival was a marked success in every detail and redounds to the credit of the members whose hard work, together with the liberality of the public, produced a social and financial result so gratifying for these times.

Good Advice for All.

The following stray is going the rounds of the press, and we reproduce it, with the suggestion that the advice given is applicable to all, if it has especial value to the farmer:

"If we were asked to give advice to a new settler on a Nebraska farm we would say to him that the failures of the past are the best lessons to study, and by doing these things which have led to failure success will surely follow. Do not mortgage your land for farm machinery, carpets and parlor organs. Live within your means, no matter how limited they may be. Do not pout over hardships or pine about your fate. Work hard and keep out of debt and in a few years you will find easy going. But you will never find easy going if you expect it now and run in debt to get it. That load will turn sour before you get half through it. To run in debt on a farm is to cut off the hope of the future. Of this the whole country is so full of object lessons written in broadest characters that you who run may read."

Two Things to Remember.

Don't fail to plant some hog millet, next spring. Try a few acres; don't go in head-over-heels. Make a thorough experiment in a small way. You will know better what to do another year.

Have you early corn selected and ready for early planting in the spring? A corn that will mature in about ninety days will stand a better chance of maturing than a variety requiring a longer season. Test these two suggestions carefully and thoroughly. We believe the results will be satisfactory.

For the Plaintiff.

Squire Berry on last Friday heard the suit of W. H. Wells against T. A. Erb to secure possession of the Commercial hotel property, and decided in favor of Mr. Wells. To which the defendant excepted. Cost in the sum of $4.05 were taxed to the defendant, to which exceptions were also filed.

An Oyster Supper.

The successful farmer is the farmer who complies most closely with the conditions of this country; and these conditions should be intelligently studied in the future without prejudice or bias. In farming it is important that one gets hold of the right end of things.

SCHOOL NOTES.

A new girl entered the Seventh grade, Monday.

Rev. Hart L. Preston made his regular weekly talk to the pupils, Monday.

It is stated that the loan exhibition of lantern slides will begin next Friday evening.

Many of the pupils are attending the meetings of the teachers' association now in session in our city.

There were only three days of school, this week, the school having a holiday today as well as yesterday.

The lectures in the school seem to be on the increase lately, most of them being delivered by home talent, however.

Mr. Valentine read a very charming story at the lantern class, last Friday night, entitled "The Cherub and the Cat".

State Superintendent Corbett will deliver an address to the teachers' meeting and the public at the Congregational church, tomorrow evening.

There will be no lantern class tonight, as Chancellor MacLean will deliver a lecture in the Congregational church to the teachers' association.

The pupils received their new quotation books, Monday. In them are selections from the leading authors, which the pupils are busily engaged in memorizing.

An order was promulgated a week or so ago that there should be no studying done in the halls, but it seems that two Twelfth grade girls, thinking the high school room too crowded, (as it really is) betook themselves to the hall, with their teacher's permission, and there studied, with disastrous results.

The Ninth grade boys and girls had a very interesting debate in their civil government class, last Wednesday afternoon. The question was, "Resolved, that the United States senators be elected by the people". The girls had the affirmative side and the boys had the negative. Al. Gibbons, Martin Thorgrimson and Jack Cashen acted as judges, and decided in favor of the affirmative.
